

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

The invention relates to a connecting plate of a multi-layers IC board, which includes the connecting plate being provided one end with an engaging step to connect with another engaging step of another connecting plate for shortening the length of the assembly. And the assembled plate can be used on a smaller multi-layers IC board that can provide a lighter and smaller product for being used effectively.